tntion come with every succeeding day's de-velopments. The number of the destitute, their desolate condition, their utter help-lessness in the face of the maintenance of the flood, appeal to every heart for succor. Their position is desperate, and outside help is all that can save them from starvation. The ruin wrought by the flood was sudden and complete. Help for the flood sufferers is im-peratively necessary, and must come quickly.

Water Receiling Slowly-Some Dangerous Points Still Watched. The Mater Receiling Slowly—Some Dangerous Points Still Watched.

The flood is still receding in East St. Louis, but at present very slowly. In the twenty-four hours from noon yesterday to if m. to-day the fall was less than three inches. However, the big fall of Saturday and Sunday was sufficient to remove the present danger, and the people of the city go about their business now with a feeling of comparative security. Yesterday nearly all the dirt thrown up on the railway, embankments was removed to clear the tracks, but the authorities were not improvident enough to place it out of reach. Instead they had it shoveled into sacks for the ruture use if needed, a large force of men being engaged in this work all day. The filled bags were piled up at convenient points, and if the water rises again the emergency will find the flood fighters better prepared than before, for the reason that everything will be in readiness for the strengthening of embankments on silort notice. There is now but one point where work is still required to keep out the flood. That is along the Air Line switch at Tenth street, where the water that floods Denverside has threatened for several days to cut through and in undate the low-lands in the vicinity. Workmen are kept on this embankment night and day, and with such watchfulness there seems to be very little danger of a break. To-day the wind is unfavorable. Being from the south it drives the waves against the Air Line embankments with considerable force, but the pressure may be withstood for some time unless the wind rises.

relieve the inconvenience that has been created. Some of the factories have been able created. Some of the factories have been able with powerful pumping apparatus to get the back water drained off and are at work again with their usual complement of hands. Among these are the Niedringhaus Bolling Mils, Buck's Stove and Range Works, the Mailinekrodt Chemical Works, which employ 800 hands in the aggregate. The Knapp, Stout & Co. Company's planing mill, which has been shut down fourteen days, was able to get a start this morning, but constant pumping was necessary to keep backwater out of the machinery pit, and backwater out of the machinery pit, and backwater to the depth of two feet still stands in the basement of the Broadway cable power plant. Carl Lotthman had a fight to keep the Mechanics' Planing Mill, of which he is the managing head, in operation, and still has to have the help of steam pumps. The C., B. & Q. tracks, from Palm street to the city limits, are still under water except a block or so in the neighborhood of Bremen avenue. With sufficient subsidence of the flood the road will be built several feet higher, in fact, high enough to withstand a forty-two foot rise. The flooding of the tracks has been a serious loss to the company in the complete suspension of businers, not only here but at points all the way through the Columbia Bottoms and Mr. Archie Doughlas of the Knapp, Stout & Co. company, who stood viewing the wreck of the firm's lumber yards this morning said that it would be several weeks before the lumber, 7,000,000 feet, could be straightened out ready for the

the Knapp, Stout & Co. company, who stood viewing the wreck of the firm's lumber yards this morning said that it would be several weeks before the lumber, 7,000,000 feet, could be straightened out ready for the retail trade. Bissell's Point still stands almost surrounded by water and Is only approachable to pedestrians from Ferry street. It will be two or three weeks before the flood line is below it. One of the most serious losses is in the Columbia Bottom, where thirty-one families had to surrender to the ravages of the river. In that region 2,170 acres of farming land was inundated bringing a loss that is estimated to be not less than $20,000. The lumbermen are discouraged. The river is failing so slowly that they calculate that it will be a month before they can resume work. Already the losses in this trade alone reach $70,000. and before work can be resumed there will be $20,000 more added to the loss account. The busy season is on, stocks are short and, in the time that the flood has prevailed, 15,000,000 feet of lumber could have been taken out of the river and stacked in the yards. The bone and fertilizing business in Lowell have been heavy losers and it will be some time before all of them can begin work again. The wiggins Ferry Co. and the St. Louis Transfer Co. are both at a standstill. An effort will be made to locate a landing and make a start in a couple of days. The transfer work means the handling of 260 car result of the flood this traffic had to go via the Eads Bridge. One consequence of the flood in North St. Louis will be that everybody who has been subjected to danger will construct a system of dykes to be ready for future high water. The manufacturers who have had to fight the danger, expense and inconvenience of backwater will make radical changes in their sewerage system. The san antervo grave concern. It was lost to public interest in the excitement of the flood, but its aeadly influence has asserted itself. The sewers that have given away under the tightening pressure of backwater smit Steps Being Taken to Aid the Flood Sui-The flood ufferers are beginning to feel at home. Be: ing cooking utensils and cloth-ing are not being furnished them, and with-in a few de every family will be provided with what necessary to keep house. Con-tributions in the line of food and clothing are still being received by the police. The dona-tions received to-day are as follows:

RELIEVING THE DESTITUTE.

Crowds of Refugees at the Distributing Depot—applications Increasing.

Judging by the applications for relief received at the distributing depot of the Merchants' Exchange Fleod Relief Committee, the number of the destitute is increasing rather than diminishing. This morning more applications were received than at any previous time, and a remarkable feature was that hearly all represented large families. Supt. W. J. Clerk said: "We have had just seventy-five applications, and a fair average of the number of sufferers represented by each application is five. This would give a total of 3% people fed, and the day is not over yet. The class of those seeking relief is continually improving. Those who came first were the poorest, but the applicants today are marry universally people who have had means, which hav been exhausted. They hate to ask for charity, but by the sad condition in which they find themselves are obliged to do so. There have been astonishingly few attempts made to impose upon us, only four or five tramps having applied. We are getting matters down to a system now. We give each applicant a card on which appears the name and address, and the number in the family. When further aid is asked for this eard must be presented. Our policy is now to issue supplies for two days. For an ordinary family the allowance is six lowes of bread, two large pieces of cheese, two large sausages, 100 crackers, a can of beef, four pounds of bacon and some coffee. In the upper room clothing is distributed to those that require it, and there are many cases of this kind, the children in particular being often very poorly clad."

In the clothing room Mr. John Carpenter.

At Albany Hall, Garrison and Cass avenues to-morrow evening, Prof. F. H. Wood and daughters will give the party which they announced will be for the benefit of the flood sufferers, the proceeds to be donated to the Post-Disparch Flood Fund. Prof. Wood as leader of the Albany Dancing Academy has a vast army of pupils in this city who know what a rare treat is in store for them when they are told that it is to be a special party and is to be managed by the popular professor and his handsome young daughters.

Mr. Joseph Pulitser.

The Post-Dispatch Relief Fund is growing.
More than $9,000 are reported at noon to-day.
There is no diminution of interest in the fate of the sufferers from the great deluge who are huddled on the bluffs. Contributions are pouring in from all quarters, But more is needed. The work is hardly begun, and it will be many weeks before the homeless, who are utterly helpless as well, can be placed in the way of helping themselves. The situation is one which calls for the largest liberality and Christian charity. Seldom has a calamity so great overwhelmed so many peobacks. They must have clothes, they must have seed. Unless these are provided for by charitable people, they are likely to be a charge upon the community for an indefinite time. The After that they can take care of themselves. The excursion given on the Grand Republic yesterday afternoon brought $221.50. This amount comprises the receipts without de-

The generous offer of the Grand Operahouse tendering a benefit performance
Thursday night of "Hoss and Hoss" merits the utmost gratitude. The "Hoss and Hoss" company, at the head of which are Messrs.
Reed and Collier, with Wm. G. Smyth, manager, tender their service free of cost for the benefit of the flood sufferers. The entire proceeds will go to the Posr-Disparch Relief Fund. Nothing will be deducted for expenses. The Grand Opera-house itself will be rent free, and all the attaches will act without pay. The lights are donated by the Missouri Electric Light Co., and the printing will be done gratuitously by the Great Western Printing Co. The posting will be done by Cottrill free.

BENEFIT AT THE GRAND.

The Generous Offer for Thursday Night From the "Hoss and Hoss" Company. The generous action of those Kings of farce cemedy Messrs. Reed and Collier in donating their services and that of their whole incom-"Hoss and Hoss" company for Thursday night of this week, at the Grand Opera-house for the benefit of the flood sufferers, is not in the usual manner of benefits. Messrs. Reed and Collier and their manager, Mr. Smyth, Messrs. Chouteau and Norton, proprietors of the Grand, their employes all donate their services without any consideration whatever except the good will and appreciation of the ic. Every cent taken in at the door goes into the Post-Dispatch Relief Fund, there being no deduction for any expense whatever.

G. Parisi, the famous violinist, will play during the evening "Berceuse" by Benaud and a fantasie by Leonard. The or-chestra has been augmented to forty pieces. Messrs. Reed and Collier and the ladies and gentlemen of their company, Messrs. Chouteau and Norton of the grand and all the attaches deserve the unbounded appreciation of the people of St. Louis for their kindly act, and a crowded house should greet them when the curtain goes up on Thursday night. There is no doubt that everybody will be kept roaring with laughter, which will be the heartier from the consness that the laughter is in a good cause. The box office opened this morning at 9 o'clock. Tickets may be procured at the box office any day this week, including Thursday, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

W. C. T. Heard From.

The Unterstuetzungs-Verein will give a concert and summer night festival at Keerber's Garden, Lefayette and Second Carondelet avenue to-morrow evening.

Pleaded Guilty.

Five more jail prisoners pleaded guilty in the Criminal Court to-day. Wm. Car-roll, Frank Meyer and John Carby, charged with burgiarizing H. M. charged with burgiarizing H. M. Merrick's residence, were given three years each in the penitentiary, as was also George Brown for burgiarizing Frank A. Ruzicka's store at 818 Cass avenue. Joseph O'Toole, who was charged with committing a rape on Nora Grimes of 1118 Cass avenue was allowed to plead gulity to common assault and was sentenced to three months in jail.

Female Saloon-Keeper Fined.

Mrs. Ottile Smith of 608 South Second street wes fined $500 by Judge Morris to-day for one of Collector Ziegenhein's deputies. Two other saloon-keepers were in court, but one of them showed that he had secured a license and the case of the other was continued to give him an opportunity to do the same.

The preliminary examination of F. on a charge of maybem was held in the Court of Criminal Correction this afternoon and the man was held for the Grand-jury in the sum of $900. Washington, D. C., May 24.—In the Senate to-day Mr. Mitchell (Rep. of Oregon), from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, reported back the resolution proposing a constitutional amendment providing for the election of Senators by the people, stating that as the committee was equally divided on the question he asked that each member have leave to present his views. It was so ordered.

Senate bills were passed appropriating $50,000 for a post-office at Owosso, Mich.; $50,000 for a post-office at Oakland, Cal., and $500,000 for a Post-office at Santiego, Cal. The last two were protested against by Mr. Cockrell (Dem. of Missouri) that the Onlidings were not an immediate necessity, and that the condition of the treasury will not just justify the appropriations.

buildings were not an immediate necessity, and that the condition of the treasury will not justify the appropriations.

The historical claim of William McGarrahan to the Kancho Fanoche quick silver mine in California, which has been before Congress forty years, was taken from the calendar and a Senate bill was unanimously passed to submit the disputed question of title between McGarrahan and the New Idea Mining Co. to the adjudication of the newly established Court of Private Land Claims.

In the House the morning the bill providing that the master of a vessel laden exclusively with a sugar, coal, salt, hides, dre woods, twool, or jute butts consigned to one consignee, arriving at a port for orders, may be permitted to destine such cargo or determine its disposition "for orders," and afterward amend by designating the actual port of discharge, was passed.

Mr. Stewart (Dem.) of Texas endeavored to have a conference committee appointed on the river and harber bill, but Mr. Holman (Dem.) of Indiana objected, and the resolution went to the calendar. The House then went into committee of the whole on the sundry civil bill and considered the amendments passed over informally last week.

WHY THEY BURN.

Upon the Finishing Depends the Resist ance of Buildings to Flames.

From the Engineering Magazine.
Any one who has ever witnessed the rapid spread of a great fire may well doubt the resistance of a steel building, guarded only with a thin veneer of non-heat-conducting material. In the great Boston fire the writer witnessed the spread of the flames to windward across a street 120 feet wide in such a manner as would utterly forbid him from ever granting a policy upon a tall office building constructed in the manner described, which might be exposed to the heat generated by the combustion of a warehouse of ordinary construction in proximity to it. The instances of the complete destruction of so-called fire-proof factories, store houses, wheat elevators and other buildings composed mainly of fron and brick are so numerous as to have given underwriters a profound distrust of iron or steel, unless so thickly encased with non-heat conducting material as not to be liable to be heated to the point of dangerous expansion.

cased with non-heat conducting material as not to be liable to be heated to the point of dangerous expansion.

I once computed the heat units in the many cords of pine wood partition, sheathing, etc., in what purported to be a slow-burning warehouse of heavy mill construction and I found that it would have sufficed to supply charcoal enough to melt a large charge of pig-iron in a puddling furnace.

It thus happens that one often finds in the papers a record of the complete destruction by fire of what had been called either a fire-proof building or a building of so-called mill construction, or a slow-burning building free from hollow spaces and free from many of the faults which infest the common examples of combustible architecture—merely because the same foresight which had been exercised in the main elements of construction had been lost in dealing with the finish. All these causes of dancer are very prevalent, even in buildings which might be wholly safe from the rapid combustion of any part of the building itself it common sense had been applied to the finish.

It therefore follows that the true question of safety does not consist wholly either in limiting the height, or the number of stories, or the width and length of floor areas. Each of these elements must be easit with, in connection with the method of finishing, and even then the final consideration must be given to the proposed use or contents of such buildings. Until all these elements have been carefully considered, and until specific rules have been established in regard to each and all the elements that I have named, no absolute conclusion can be reached either in respect to height, number of stories, or area of floor, so far as the danger of loss by fire is concerned.

Meer Patrick Thornton, who alleged, wrote an indecent letter to Mrs. Patrick Burke, wife of ex-Police Officer Burke, it said to have decamped, and is now in Chicago it is claimed. The case against Thornton comes up to-day before the Board of Police Commissioners, but it is doubtful whether the officer will appear. He sent in his resignation as an officer before leaving for the Windy City.

Mrs. Elmira Zeller, who, it is alleged, eloped with Charles Lewis, a machinist, not quite a month ago, was in Carondelet yesterday afternoon. What her mission was in visiting her old home is a mystery, but it is thought that she wanted to visit her two little children, whom she so cruelly deserted. Her husband, Capt. Joseph Zeller, fearing that she would endeavor to gain possession of her children, hurried to the Carondelet school and took them away and secreted them with friends. The woman visited her sister, Mrs. Stumpff of No. 405 East Courtols street, but the latter ordered her out of the house, and she went, Lewis did not return to Carondelet with her Justica Meekan returned a decision in favor of the de lendant in the case of Dr. S. The Cowhiding a Hoak An article appeared in a morning paper detailing minutely how Patrick Daily had been cowhided about 6 o'clock last evening by Annie Hall of 14 North Eleventh street, by Annie Hall of 14 North Eleventh street, Nellie McHenry, living at O'Fallon and Eighth streets, and a third young woman, whose name and residence were unknown. It was stated that Daily had insulted the girls on a river excursion last Saturday night and that they cowhided him last night from in front of Pete Morrisey's saloon at Eleventh street and Clark avenue all the way over to Market street where he only escaped, according to the account, by jumping on an electric car. All these particulars, with embellishing details were told under a big scare head. This morning Daily walked into the Posr-Disparch office totally unmarked and stated that the whole yarn was a hoax gotten up as a joke on him by Morrissey. The saloon keeper, he claims, guiled the reporter with the tale.

The new-comerctook a seat near the Englishman and opened conversation with him. In the course of the chat the Englishman somewhat severely criticised the German school system, which he alleged, made slaves of the pupils. His confination took a different view of the subject and defended the system in the main, though he expressed the belief that some changes would shortly be made. The conversation turned upon the Emperor, whom the Englishman praised as a bright young man. He though, however, that his Majesty ought to read English newspapers more and consider the criticisms they contained. To this the German replied that he happened to know that the Emperor rend the foreign newspapers extensively, and, furthermore, that he was never angry at what he saw in them, as had been falsely reported. An English Traveler's Story of a Chance

If he only acquires modesty he will succeed, if—"If what?" interrupted the German.
"If the condition of his health does not prevent," added the Englishman.
"I thank you for your good opinion," responded the man in forrester's garb; "with God's halp I shall do the best for my people. I mysalf am the Emperor. Pray tell your countrymen that I like their straightforward; sss."
Wit this the Emperor rose, extended his hand J his astonished companion, and with the p ting words "Leben Sle wohl!" stepped from he shed and resumed his journey, the storm maying passed away.

with her companion, Mary Hurt, the daughter of a theatrical star, known on the stage as Miss Rae Dean, and who is now on the road. When Miss Ryan left her home on Fifteeth street ten days ago her mother was away in the East for her health. The young sirl was left at home by her mother to take care of the three smaller children, also her father, a car recorder at the east end of the bridge in East St. Louis, is away from home from early morning until late in the evening. When Mr. Ryan returned home Sanday evening the children told him a young lady called to see their sister during the afternoon and that she went away with her aiter supper. Mr. Ryan thought nothing of her absence until late that night, when the girl did not returns a she did not make her sppearance late. Monday night, Mr. Ryan telegraphed to his wife to come home at once. She arrived Wednesday morning and spent the day calling on the girl friends of her anywhere. At about 70 clock that evening there was a knock at the door and, answering it, she met Mr. Martimore Millard, an attorney who has an office in East St. Louis and lives there with his family, he was an old friend or the Eyan family and had often called but on this occasion, so Mrs. Ryan alleges, he wore a false mustache which he took from his face as soon as he saw her. Her suspicions were at once aroused.

That evening she was told that Mr. Millard had called to see her daughter while she was away, and supposed he knew something of her disappearance. Thursday she called on Mr. Millard at his East St. Louis office, and presenting a revolver at his face, charged him with sedemanded a check for $500 to aid in finding her girl, and Mr. Millard at his East St. Louis office, and presenting a revolver at his face, charged him with sedemanded a check ror $500 to ald in finding her girl, and Mr. Millard are it to her. He tried to take the revolver from her, and then south her daughter and concealing her. She demanded a check ror $500 to ald in finding her girl, and Mr. Millard gave it to her. He a revolver at his face, charged him with sadeulonger ducing her ducing her daughter and concealing her. She demanded a check for $00 to aid in finding her girl, and Mr. Millard gave it to her. He tried to take the revolver from her, and in the souffie which followed it went off, but no one one was hurt. When Mrs. Hyan failed to get the check cashed she swore she would shoot Mr. Millard and kill herself. She tried every way to locate her daughter, and went so far as to put personals in the paper signing a name she found among her letters and then stationed herself at the meeting place shabbilly dressed and blackened like a negro woman. Failing to attract the girl in this way she inserted an advertisement saying she would forgive the girl if she had as a lastresort; she applied to Detectives Danaher and schoppe to help her. She has been with the detectives day and night since last Friday, and gone to every house or hotel where she thought her daughter might be hiding.

The following letter was received this morning by Chief Police Harrigan:

I see the papers Justice will have been done to the innocent parties. I remain yours respectfully, Winnifred Rian.

The arrest was made within an hour after the letter was received. Ben Hoffman and Charlie Hall have been arrested, and are now at the Four Courts. Hortense Hurt was until recently a "trusty" at St. Ann's Asylum on Biddle street and made her escape a couple of weeks ago. She was placed there by her mother several years ago. She is now about is years old.

WHERE THEY HAVE BEEN.

The girls readily accompanied the officer to the Four Courts and there made a statement to Chief Harrigan. Miss layan said she left her home on Fifteenth street Sunday evening May 18, with Miss Hirt and met Ben Hoffman and Chas. Hall, whom they had known some time. Late in the evening the young men took them to a boarding-house, 406 South Seventh street, and left them there. They remained at that place a week and then went to the Star Hotel, Sixth and Market streets. As the hotel was too prominent and in the down-town district where they might be recognized, they decided to move west and in a more obscure neighbor-hood. Monday evening they went to the house at Twenty-first and Market street and engaged a room. Seeing the auxiety and worry her absence from home had created and the trouble she was getting others into, she decided to tell where she was.

rested. She hurried to the Four Courts and rushing into Chief Harrigan's office stood for a moment transfixed when she came face to face with her daughter. Then throwing her arms about the girl she kissed her repeatedly crying hysterically all the while: "My Winnie! my Winnie! why did you do this? You have broken my heart." In the midst of her joy at again seeing her daughter she swooned away and fell in a dead faint on the floor at the girl's feet. It was the second collapse to-day and the attendants worked with her some time before she recovered.

Mrs. Ryan had fainted once before to-day, while talking to Detectives Schoppe and Danaher in Capt. Young's private office, Mrs. Ryan has kept up a continuous search for her daughter, Winnie, since she came home from the kast last wednesday. She has been up day and night, spending only a few hours at home each evening. She has resorted to all manner of schemes and devices to locate her daughter, whom she believes to be in hiding in St. Louis. Her husband has been unable to restrain or console her and since she has been absenting herself.

que Costumes Worn by Peasant

Women at Monostorzeg.

The ordinary costume of both sexes at Monostorzeg (a small vilinge on the Danube) is simplicity itself. The women wear a highnecked, ankie-long chemise of white homespun linen, with full sleeves gathered at the eibow and richly embroidered, usually with blue. Bands of narrow embroidery decorate the waist and skirt also. This chemise is girded to the body by a thick woollen belt, binding tightly to the figure the upper edge of a narrow apron of striped woollen homespun, very brilliant in color. A kerchief is usually worn on the head, and the feet are habitually bare.

On Sundays and fete days the girls exchange the coarse garments for others of choicer texture, the chemise being fine and carefully pleated, and the apron of mull or mustin delicately embroidered with white. Tall red morocco boots, with yellow heels and soles and curiously pointed toes, adorn, or rather disfigure, the feet, and around the neck are hung many rows of gaudy glass beads.

The hair is elaborately platted in a broad band, which is brought over to the forehead and then turned back again. This is held in place by dozans of pins with ornamental

The hair is elaborately plaited in a broad band, which is brought over to the forehead and then turned back again. This is held in place by dozens of pins with ornamental heads; and all along the edges of the braid behind is a thick row of bits of a fine green aromatic herb, while in the hair itself, at the back, geraniums, marigolds and other nowers are skillfully arranged.

On their wedding day they cover their heads with a wonderful square structure, more like a pastry cook's montee than a bonnet, wear an ample white lace shoulder cape, a brilliant scarlet petticoat, with white lace apron and tall red boots. This dress is preserved with jealous care, and is never produced on Sundays and holidays.

The men's costume consists of loose linen trousers, like a divided skirt, a full tunic, a waistooat with sliver buttons, hussar boots, and a small round hat, writes a traveler in Herner's Magazies. Both sexes have for an outer garment either a sheepskin cloak or a greatocat of very thick, feitlike woolen with broad, square collar, and sleeves either sewed up at the bottom, or else in short, rudimentary form. These conts, and also the sheepskin cloaks, are often richly and gandily embroidered.

Ravaged by Wolves. CARTRAGE, Mo., May 24.—Last night T. J. Stemneons, a farmer living near Avilla, in the northeast part of Jasper County, liscovered twelve of his sheep had been killed since Sunday, and twenty had been wounded, by woives. This fanger to sheep raising is a surprise to the armers, and to prevent further ravages colson will be laid around to surprise the volves and if unsuccessful in thus exterminating them a general wolf hunt will be inagurated.

How Mines Are Salted.

From the Kansas City Times.

An amusing story is told by the famous geologist, Clarence King, of an investigation which he made of an alleged silver mine in Utab. He undertook the task at the instance of certain capitalists who proposed to buy the property, which was represented to be of anormous value. Appearances were certainly very much in its favor. On the way down the shart the walls on either hand gleamed brightly with shining ore in the light thrown by the lamps and the sides of the drifts were qually beautiful to the eye of the observing Expert. However, while examining the rock nore critically he noticed by chance a coarse hread banging out of it. Ordinarily threads o not grow in rock, and the finding of this me led to the discovery of the whole swindle, in the fact was developed that the owner of its mine had taken a great quantity of siens, reduced it to powder, made it with a ter into a plaster was carried for this troose in gunny sacks, a thread from one of lich got mixed up with it.

Pirrisbuno, Pa., May 26.—Petrick Fitspatrick, the murderer of Samuel Early, explated his crime on the scaffold in, the County Jail yard this morning. The trap was sprung at 11:05 o'clock a. m. and in fifteen minutes life his crime on the scaffold in the County Jall yard this morning. The trap was sprung at 11:05 o'clock a. m. and in fifteen minutes life was pronounced extinct. Death resulted from strangulation. The condemned man spent his last night on earth without much incident. At 11:40 o'clock he retired and slept soundly until 3:30 o'clock this morning, when he arose and knelt down and prayed for an hour. At 6 o'clock Father Griffin appeared and remained with him until the hour of the execution. Fitspatrick said there was nothing he could say that would help his case. The murder was caused by liquor. He was satisfied that a man of his nervous temperament should never drink.

When the hour arrived for the execution the condemned walked firmly to the scaffold and mounted it without assistance. Before the cap was placed over his head he bade those present good-bye and said he was ready to meet his fate. Two minutes later the noose was adjusted about his neck and he was launched into eternity.

The execution was witnessed by only thirty persons, including the physicians, jury and reporters. Outside the jail about two hundred people gathered, but they were soon dispersed by the police. There was no excitement. The execution was so well planned that there was not a single mishap.

The crime for which Fitspatrick was executed was the killing of Samuel Early, a steel roller, on the night of Sept. 2, 1891. The murder was for many years a tramp, but worked at odd times as a laborer. On the night of the murder he met his victim, Samuel Early, in the Phoenix Hotel bar-room, No. 51 Eleventh street, and they had several drinks together. About 10:30 o'clock a quarrel arose between the men about some trivial matter and ended in Early knocking Fitzpatrick down. John Payne, the bartender, put Fitzpatrick out and told Early to follow. As Early pushed one of the swinging doors open Fitzpatrick was not an ended they had several drinks together. About 10:30 o'clock a quarrel arose between the murderer was arrested immediately and at the fall te ALBANY, N. Y., May 24.—In the Coart of Appeals to day judgment was affirmed in the case of People vs. Stephen Sherman, appellant. This was an appeal from a judglant. This was an appeal from a judgment of the general term affirming a judgment of the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Eric County convicting the defendant of the crime of grand larceny and sentencing him to imprisonment in Auburn State Prison for the term of five years. The indictment charged the defendant, who was a manager and director of "The Buffalo Elevating Co.." and "The International Elevating Co.," and "The Lake Shore Elevating Co.," which three corporations were associated together in the business of receiving elevating and storing wheat at the city of Buffalo, and of which association the defendant was the manager, with having feloniously appropriated to his own use some 8,250 bushels of wheat, the property of said Buffalo Elevating Co. Defendant alleged on trial that the facts stated, even if true, do not constitute the crime of grand larceny, but simply that of emozziement.

PORGERY CHARGED.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 24.—Charles F. Lewis, said to be a son of W. H. Lewis of Cincinnati, at one time a large dry goods merchant in that city, has been arrested here on several charges of passing bogus checks. The charges are brought by a dozen persons, and the sums vary from 80 to $150. Lewis, it is also stated, is also connected with the case for which W. W. Henderson recently received an eight years' sentence in the Penitentiary.

ATTEMPTED MURDER. HUDSON, WIS., May 24.—Seven tramps were arrested last night by the police on a charge of attempting to murder a fellow companion. John Williams, the injured man, had some money on his person. The parties intended to kill and rob him, but were prevented by officials. The gang have been sent to the workhouse to await the result of the wounded man's injuries. He is badly cut about the head and breast and is in a critical condition.

PARIS, May 24.—The police have been so far baffled in their search for M. Reymond, the faithless it band, and whose wife killed Mme. Delaporte-Lassimonne on Saturday night when she discovered her husband in the woman's company. The theory is advanced by M. Reymond's friends that he has committed suicide through remorse. POLICE BAFFLED.

MURDERED FOR MONEY. JACKSON, Ga., May 24.—Capt. J. A. Sloan, 81 years old, one of McDonough's most respected citizens, and father of ex-Congressman and Rev. A rather warm altercation took place be-tween Mr. Murray of Pennsylvania and Dr. Berry, chairman of the committee, over a misunderstanding. The conference was discussing a section providing that there should be no effort made to disturb the Christian Endeavor and other young people's societies in the church for the purpose of planting Epworth Leagues in their stead. Secretary Moore offered a resolution to strike out the section. Mr. Murray held that the committee had agreed to this section as a compromise after a week of warm discussion. He was opposed to the idea of striking out the section. Dr. Berry declared that Mr. Murray had misrepresented the committee, and after shooting contradictions at each other for a few moments, they got together and found that they were not very far apart after all. Dr. Shier was in favor of giving the Epworth League th full right of way in the church. He thought the section was intended to give Dr. Berry, chairman of the com He thoughethe section was intended to give Christian Endeavor societies an additional lease of the in the Methodist Church. Dr. Maxfield of Nebraska wanted the Epworth League to have a ful and free endorsement of the conferences, and other young people's societies to understand that they were not at home in the Methodist Church, but were occupying the territory of the Epworth League, while in the Methodist Church. The motion to strike out the section resulted in a vote of 265 for to 56 against. It was a decided victory for the stalwart Epworth League.

A motion was immediately made to have the section which had been stricken out attached as a foot-note. Dr. Kynett, Dr. Leanard and several others made ringing speaches in behalf of the Christian Endeavor Society. There were thousand of loyal young people, they said, in the young people's societies connected with the Methodist Church, and they were perfectly loyal to the church. They should be recognized. The section was added as a foot-note.

Chaplain McCabe aroused the greatest applause of the day. He arose to a question of privilege and announced that he had just received a subscription of $10,000 to assist in the erection of a Methodist headquarters in the city of Rome. Other sections of the rules intended to govern the Epworth League and other young people's societies connected with the Methodist Church were then taken up. They provide that the league shall have officers who shall report to the district and general conferences.

Dr. Buckley held that it would not be wise to make the Presidents of the local leagues members of the quarterly conferences—a section providing that all presidents of the Epworth Leagues must be members of the Methodist Episcopal Church and members of the quarterly conference was adopted. Mr. Shaw of lowa made a very leat speech, advocating the idea of wing the young people of the Epworth agues the right to elect their own officers, n her than to have the quarterly conference to assist the leagues in the election of the providence.

The legend in the south of France is that all the relatith of Our Lord and the Virgin harry were inished from Palestine and with them seve of the friends and adherents of Our Lord.

"They it twith them the body of St. Ann. It was ent abed in a subterranean chapel in the Cathedral of Apt, in the south of France, by the first bishop of that See in the first century."

Mgr. O'Heilly stated that when France was invaded by arbarians the entrance to the chapel was awalled up, and evidences of its existence were obliterated. In A. D. 77 the wall was discovered and opened in the presence of Chaplemagne, Archbishop Turpin and a great company of priests and nobles. On the cypress toom was insoribed: "This is the body of St. Ann. the imother of the Blessed Virgin Mary." A letter of Charlemagne to Pope Adrian I., cone raing this discovery, is extant.

"The body has been kept ever since in the cathedral of Apt to the great glory of the city," added Mgr. O'Reilly.

The recently exposed relic in this city came from the right arm which was sent to Rome and kept in the monastery of St. Paul. "In respect to the Methodist ministers who criticise us," said Mgr. O'Reilly, "I have only to say that they should go to the libraries and read for themselves the historical proofs of the miraculous preservation of the body of St. Ann.

Everybody fleeces the Indians. The white men steal their cattle and land, the raifronds seize parts of their reservations, the traders cheat them in the quality and quantity of their supplies, and the lumber kings strip their hills of trees and never pay them a cent. And when these stop the attorneys step in to claim the lion's share of any peaceful settlement which they may be able to secure. These facts will enlist nearly every sympathetic interest in support of the petition which the Cheyennes and Arapahoes have filed, against the granting of $67,000 of their money to the "attorneys" who claim to have given their services to the work of securing the price of their reservations. If any money is to be paid for attorneys' services, the Government should pay it, it agreed to give a certain sum for the land, and although it may not have agreed to furnish counsel, the necessity for such counsel grows out of its old custom of breaking its faith with the sed men. It would be interesting to know who these attorneys are, whether they are not Indian traders under another title, merely engaged in varying their usual game. What service did they perform, and by whom were they employed Before the Senate votes to grant the exceptionant charge made every point in the case should be investigated and published. The chances are that it is merely another attempt to rob a helpless people.

Pars, May 24.—The following facts have been learned in regard to the arrest of Thomas O'Brien, the notorious American bunco man, who after his extradition from England was sentenced in Albany, N. Y., to ten years imprisonment for robbery of a man of $10,000, and who subsequently made his escape. Mr Blaine, the American Secretary of State, sent a cable dispatch on Saturday to Mr. Henry Vignaud, the secretary in charge of the can Secretary of State, sent a cable dispatch on Saturday to Mr. Henry Vignaud, the secretary in charge of the American Legation during the absence of the Minister, telling him that it was thought that O'Brien was on the French steamer Marseille, which sailed from New Orleans, May 1, for Havre, and calling upon him to cause the fugitive's arrest. Mr. Vignaud saw M. Ribot, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the Prefect of Police, both of whom promised to do their utmost to aid him in capturing O'Brien. Mr. Vignaud telegraphed to the American Consul at Havre informing him of the expected arrival of O'Brien. When the Marseille arrived on Saturday a watch was kept on the steamer, but O'Brien made no attempt to land that day. On Sunday he was allowed to disembark, the police making no attempt to stop him. The Consul, however, found him on a train, arrested him and delivered him to the police, telling them that he was a dangerous man. The police promised to detail two gendarmes to guard him. Yesterday the Consul learned that the police had let O'Brien take a walk. Since that time he has not yet been seen.

THE BUNCO MAN'S RECORD.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The man whom the police of Paris and London are now watching, Thomas O'Brien, for almost a quarter of a century has born the title of Bunco Prince, yet he never was convicted of a crime until a few months ago. That crime was committed in January, 1889.

One day a tall, handsome and altogether elegant gentleman called at the home of John M. Peck, an aged and wealthy real estate dealer of Albany. The caller's name was George Washington Post, and in a quiet, uncostentatious manner he let it leak out that he was a nephew of Erastus Corning. Mr. Post casually dropped a few proofs that he was an old friend of the Peck family, and told Mr. Peck that he desired to buy a house.

Mr. Peck walked out arm in arm with Geo. Washington Post to show some houses to him. Mr. Post at last found the place that pleased him. Mr. Peck could sell it to him for $10,000 cash; that was a figure for a friend of the family. Mr. Post finally agreed to take it at that price. Of course he couldn't be supposed to carry so heavy a wad of money as that in his pocker. Would Mr. Peck step with him to No. 185 Clinton avenue, where he wished to call on a friend? That friend's name was Thomas O'Brien. Would O'Brien lend Post was Thomas O'Brien. Would O'Brien lend Post was Thomas O'Brien. Would O'Brien lend Post was an old acquaintance, but Mr. Peck was more than 80 years old. It was no tr

Words was received this morning at the headquarters of the Granite Cutters' National Union in this city that the quarry owned by Webster & Morse at Barre, Vt. had withdrawn from the New England Contractors' Association and had signed the yearly scale of wages from May I of this year to May I, 1866. This is the first real victory that the granite cutters have made in their big struggh. The quarry is one of the largest owned by the New England Association, and employs more than five hundred men.

At a meeting of the Joint committee held in Clarendon Hall, reports were received andread in regard to the quarries offered to the union to be worked on the co-operative plan. It was decided to operate the Garrison and Goschen quarries on this plan as soon as a market could be found for their product in this city.

bass. The ship reached Quarantine last night, and Capt. Potter told the story of his narrow escape.

The Habitant comes from Hull. She made a prosperous voyage, and was off the Banks when a heavy fog set in. There was scarcely a breath of wind blowing. The ship was moving alowly along. Lookouts were stationed forward to watch for vessels and teabergs. Night came on, throwing out a blanket of darkness, which increased the thickness of the fog. About midnight the sound or something grating on the side of the vessel attracted the attention of the man on watch. The Captain was called, and although all hands peered over the side it was impossible to see anything. The men believed it to be floating ice or an feeberg, but none suspected the real situation.

The Habitant remained stationary during the night. When the sun rose the following morning the fog was quickly dispelled, and then burst upon the astonished gaze of the Captain and crew a sight which was so beautiful that it translated them for the time. although all knew that it possibly meant death On all sides were mountainous ice-bergs, the white crystais glistening in the sunlight and taking the most beautiful colors. The ship was entirely hemmed in by field ice, from which towered twenty-five bergs. The ice was closing in tighter and tighter, aquessing the vessel until it creaked and groaned with the weight.

There appeared to be hope of rescue. For the first thirty-six hours the vessel remained in her perilous position. The saliors whistled for the wind, but it did not come. Then they prayed. On the morning of the third day the see appeared to be loosening about the vessel, then there came a faint gust of wind, which was followed by a light breeze.

The vessel commenced to move, cutting her way slowly through the ice until the last of the big bergs wasto be passed. It was dead ahead and less than 100 feet away. The ship retused to answer her helm, she moved ahead and less than 100 feet away.

GOOD CROPS POSSIBLE YET.

The last report of the Missouri State Weather Service summarized the crop con ditions in yesterday's Post-Dispatch as catalogue of irreparable damages and heavy losses, and summed it all up in the statement that throughout the State "such a general gloomy outlook has not prevailed in the past fifty years."

If this does not exaggerate the situation in Missouri it is a conservative statement of the situation throughout the entire Mississippi Valley group of States. Such of them as are more dependent on either wheat or cotton than Missouri is, and received such low prices for last year's crops, must be in much worse condition than she is, with her more varied crops and sources of wealth, to stand a year of disasters and short crops.

But there is time enough yet for energetic farmers to greatly change the present outlook and to raise crops, which, though smaller than last year's, may be worth more. Some compensations always attended these visitations. Probably the gloomies of Western Missouri and Kansas was in the last week of May and the first half of June, 1875, when the young Rocky Mountain locusts ate up every green thing in the planting season of the year following a year of crop failures. It was a maxim there that summer drouths were generally sure to blast late planted crops, and farmers planted imported seed corn in June with scarcely a Mamtt, as hould have been done. the succeeding months were exceptionally favorable to everything planted; all noxious weeds and insects disappeared with the locusts; seed left by the latter soon covered the denuded pastures with a new kind of grass; the heaviest crops of roots and grain ever seen matured in fine condition that year, and besides her corn crop Kansas had $50,000,000 worth of wheat to

It often happens that an exceptionally bad spring is followed by an exceptionally favorable summer and autumn. Splendid crops of June-planted corn have been raised all over Missouri, Illinois and Kansas and can be raised again, even when planted as late as the 20th of June. With heir longer seasons the more Southern States can make good food crops when planted still later, and their inability to raise more than half a cotton crop this year may prove a blessing in disguise.

Should it be understood when the Minneapolis Convention meets that BLAINE's unwillingness to accept the nomination can be in any way overcome, the convention will jump at the opportunity to do ot one great statesman in old Virginia at anything and everything necessary to give him the refusal in such a way that he cannot refuse it.

The preference of the party for Mr. ous than it ever was for anybody before. It has been so unanimous and so anifest to everybody, except President HARRISON, that he was the only Republican in the Union who thought he could wrest the nomination from BLAINE, and the latter's persistent efforts to avoid being nominated have caused HARRISON'S efforts for the nomination to be regarded with resentment by the masses as well as by the leaders of the party.

should be done as soon as possible, and the and the convention will not do that if it can do better. If BLAINE refuses to the last and Hay croon does nothing to make BLAINE to be the party nomince, it w always be believed BLAINE on flood his last and best chance to be President in the effort to save his party from the blundering stub-bornness of the Harrison administration. We may, therefore, expect that the party leaders will find some way to shame Har-RISON into some show of more or less the obstacles to BLAINE'S in removi and prevailing on him to ac-

A unanimous nomination tenlered to Mr. BLAINE now, after all he has said and done to secure two terms for HAR-RISON, would and should gratify him more than an election to the Presidency, and with Harrison joining in the solicitation it is incredible that he would refuse it. A great proportion are afraid to express their opions for fear that they may not get a certificate to teach school from the State Superintendent, or the one they have may run out. The Brutal Treatment of Children.

Shall we obey Solomon or the Savior in our treatment of children? When the aposties of the Savior forbade mothers to trouble the Savior with their children it angered Him and he told them "suffer the children to come unto Me for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven," and He took the children in His arms and blessed them. Again, He says that he who does the smallest kindness to a child shall not loose his reward in Heaven, and better that a milistone were hanged about his neck and drowned in the depths of the sea than offend one of these little ones.

My judgment is that every inhumanity inflicted upon helpless, defenseless children must be attoned for here or hereafter, and so all wanton cruefty upon any human being under the power of another.

No human being was ever made better by inhumanity. Obedience from love is far better and holier than from fear.

No man that has ever lived is responsible for more inhumanity to children than old Soicomon of the Bible—the man who had $,000 concubines. Was he a fit teacher of the treatment of children? He was but a man—a wise man in many things—but having no divine authority to teach in regard to the treatment of children. whom the eyes and thoughts of the na-tion are now centered, very few were aware of the exact time of his arrival.

Among those who loitered about the hotel, uncertain as to what 'reception would be acmen. As the Secretary, with his wife on his arm, passed upward to the rooms set apart for them, there was much speculation among the scribes as to whether he would be visible to them again during the evening. Mr. Blaine kindly relieved them of all suspense by sending word that he would be pleased to the center of a group of reporters, whom he greeted pleasantly. As he stood there, straight as an arrow, with a clear eye and vigorous expression, seemingly conscious that his every movement was being critically noted, there was nothing to indicate anything to do. Another reason which I am a to say induced me to visit New York was desire to see my little granddaughter."

When asked in reference to his health a Blaine, with a smile, said: "I am just as w as I look, and I do not believe that I look if a confirmed invalid, do I?" and he laugh good naturedly. His smile was infection and every one caught it and looked happ his appearance and his pleasant greetly put everyone in good humor and after a freedomnoplade remarks the crowd retired.

The apparent readiness of his invitation the newspaper fraternity was taken as a evidence of his willingness and anxiety when the public that he was again a welman and able to bear the burdens of presidential honors. When it became generally thown that he had granted an audience the press, everyone accepted it as an omen of acceptance on his part. Consequently nuch jubilation prevailed among the Rebublican politicians of small and high degree, who were about the hotel.

Ex-United States Senator Blair of New lampshire received the news with apparent tits accion and remarked in his charactertic way: "I guest the best thing that can be done think he would disappoint the executions of those who would like to have a accept."

"I have voted for Blaine in three National Conventions, and aided his nomination in 1884, and each time represented the senti-ment of my State. Now, with New York, wisconsin, the silver States, the Pa-cific and Northwestern States doubtful, it behooves the Reguliicans to move with caution. The administration has been admittedly clean and able in its domestic and foreign policy, legislation and work and is entitled to the respect of the party, therefore it enjoys universal respect. I have been in several States and have felt the disinter-ested pulse, not like that of our Missouri State ested pulse, not like that of our Missouri State Convention, which a leading Postmaster said contained 267 postmasters, not counting the United States marshals, district attorneys and deputies, but the class who for the best interests of the country desire to see Republican rule maintained—men who are interested in manufactures, finance, trade, agriculture; and who would not accept an office. They spoke out plainly that no mistake must be made at Minneapolis. This is not in opposition to Harrison or anyone else, but in the interest of the country and party.

"It strikes home to Republicans when such a State as Wisconsin is put in the Democratic column. There is a letter here in Washington, in the bands of a Wisconsin Republican, written for the eye of the President—that is to be shown to him—from the best informed Republican source in Wisconsin, saying that Harrison could not carry that State. When asked the object of his visit he said:
"I will be perfectly frank with you, boys. I intend to treat you fairly, as I have found the newspaper men always treat me fairly. My visit here has no political significance whatever. I am here for several reasons, all of which are of a private nature, and have no relations to political or public business."

"Is it true that your visit there is for the purpose of having an operation performed on your eyes?" was asked.

"Yes, that is one of the reasons. Not," he added quickly, "that it is an absolute necessity, but I concluded that it would be a good thing to do. Another reason which I am glad to say induced me to visit New York was my desire to see my little granddaughter."

as a reason for opposition, while e difficult to find a single man than two men who can be considered as personally prejudiced against the President.

Ex-Speaker Reed, Murat Haistead, and a number of other politicians called to see Mr. Bains. The Secretary seemed to be in excellent spirits this morning, and as he approached his carriage on his way to his daughter's home, he walked with a vigorous and elastic step. As he stepped into his carriage he turned to a representative of the United Fress and said: "I am going to see my granddaughter and I may remain all the afternoon." Further than this he would say nothing about his plans while in New York.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May M.—The rabid Blaineites are circulating the statement that a decided change has come over Mrs. Blaine. She has for a long time opposed the Secretary's condidacy, on account of her fears in regard to his health. The Secretary's health has undoubtedly Improved somewhat of late, and Mrs. Blaine has become so much encouraged about it that she is understood to have withdrawn her veto, and to be now willing that the Secretary should make the campaign. Indeed, in one sense of the word she is said to be actually desirous that he should have a chance to prove to the country that he is not the physical and mental wreck which rival interests have represented him to be. The story is being widely circulated.

"I was told the same thing in 1884," said said: "You Tammany man would not give me any help. Tamman is better organized and could control her forces better than in 1884. Now tell me if you know any Tammany men who would vote for me?"

"Well, that could hardly be expected," replied Campbell.

"Well, I won't expect it," said Blaine, and the interview terminated.

INDIANS IN POLITICS.

ASSERTING THEIR RIGHT TO RECOGNITION B

SOUTH MCALESTER, L. T., May 24 .- Yester day will be remembered as an eventful one in the history of the Indian Territory. Never before has the Republican party aspired to complete an organization within the vast boundaries of this great undeveloped coun-try, undeveloped for no reason under the sun SUCCESS.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Secretary James Q, avaricious white element which has intermarried in the several tribes and acquired by rights of such marriage under the laws enacted by the indians themselves full Indian citizenship, with apparently as much voice in the affairs of the five civilized in the affairs of the five civilized tribes as the Indian himself. It is the constant policy of the whites of this class to retard with their utmost power every plan for the inevitable advance of civilization, and it is the policy of the whites of the diametrically opposite class. This was demonstrated to day to unite with the intelligent Indian under perfect political organisation and demand of the Republican party in their convention at Minneapolis the tardy recognition emineutly due them, but persistently withheld by all political and social parties. The general citizen of the United States is so thoroughly ignorant of all that constitutes this great country as to believe that because it is set aside for Indian; it is wild and uncultivated, as was the Indian, country described in the dimenovels of his youth, which he evidently accepts as competent authority upon which to hase and maintain an opinion. The reality novels of his youth, which he evidently accepts as competent authority upon which to base and maintain an opinion. The reality is that the indians represented in the five civilized tribes of the indian Territory are better educated, more intelligent and nave a higher appreciation generally of the requirements of a good citizen than any of the immigrants so fondly fostered by this Government. It perhaps is news to the majority of the citizens of the United States to learn that the term "five civilized tribes' is not a misnomer. All are self-governed and, as far as does not conflict with the United States laws, are independent. Their legislative body will compare to their favor with similar organisations of the whites.

The unanimous voice of the convention was usited to both the Indian and white man, as their interests are inseparable. This fact is recognized in that the man at the head of

R. C. Kerens Believes Blaine Out

Harrison's Convention Campaign in Charge of the Indiana Delegation,

BUT SECRETARY ELEINS WILL BE ON HAND AT MINNEAPOLIS.

Stories of a Blaine Apti-Harrison Factio Prompted by Malice-Blaine in Good Health, but Will Not Allow His Name to Be Used-The Fateful First Ballot-Delegate Catron of New Mexico Dis-

Mr. Richard C. Kerens, who has been away from the city for some days past, returned this morning. His arrival was coincident with the publication in a morning paper of telegraphic advices from Washington stating that a strong Blaine anti-Harrison combination had been formed with the determination to force Blaine to accept the momination at Minneapolis, that Eikins had been forced by Quay, Dudley and other Blaine leaders to show his hand and had declared for Harrison but would not attend the Minneapolis convention, and that the Harrison campaign there would be under charge of Mr. Kerens, with a special wire connecting his headquarters with Washington, from where Foster, Eikins and the other Harrison lieutenants would practically direct Mr. Kerens' work at Minneapolis. This morning, when Mr. Kerens was seen by a Post-Disparch reporter, he discussed these alleged campaign arrangements very freely.

WRIT KERENS SAYS:

WHAT KERENS SAYS:

"I know nothing of any such plans as those outlined," he said, "and as for the probabilities of Mr. Blaine's being in the race at all I still believe that he cannot and will not accept the nomination, although he is in good health at the present time. I think the telegram from Washington published in another morning paper to-day, quoting Mr. Blaine as positively asserting that he will not be a candidate, and offering to write another letter to that effect if Mr. Harrison so desires, is the plain truth of the situation as it stands now. I do not wish to impugn the veracity of the Washington correspondent who vends the story of the Blaine and tharrison movement, but the evident design of the whole story is to create the impression that there are strong Blaine and Harrison factions developing which will cause bitter antagonism at the Minneapolis Convention. This is not true. There will be no antagonism there, and the nomination will be made without developing any such hostility or bitterness as is outlined in the story referred to.

NOT HARRISON'S MANAGER.

hostility or bitterness as is outlined in the story referred to.

Not RABRISON'S MANAGER.

As to the management of Mr. Harrison's interests at Minneapoils, I can settle that part of the story very quickly. It will be in the hands of the Indiana delegation, first, last and all the time, for that delegation directed the Harrison movement at the Chicago convention in 1888, and it will claim the right of doing so at the Minneapolis convention, a right to which it is entitled and which will be accorded it. I certainly do not see where I will have the management of Mr. Harrison's various interests at Minneapolis, and I know of no arrangements spi the special wire from my headquarters in Washington, from which the convention campaign, according to the story of to-day, is to be directed.

"As to Mr. Elkins' part in the management of the Harrison movement at Minneapolis, I know nothing definitely, so I would not are to express myself on that point. I did hear while East that Elkins would not attend the convention, but afterward. I was told that he would, and I believe the latter statement. I think it is safe to say that all the leaders and principal representatives of the Repucican party will be present in Minneapolis during the convention. I have had no expression from Elkins himself on the subject, however, and so I do not speaz authoritatively.

"What I wish to have stated most emphatically is that there is no antagonism developing in the Republican party over the nomina.

ically is that there is no antagonism develop-ing in the Republican party over the nomina-tion. The position is unchanged to-day from what it has been ever since this presidential campaign first began to occupy national attention, and the work of the party at Min-neapolis will be thoroughly harmonious.

neapoils will be thoroughly harmonious.

THINKS BLAINE IS OUT.

"Then you believe, Mr. Kerens, that under no circumstances will Mr. Blaine be a candidate for the nomination?"

I would prefer not to be quoted as expressing an opinion on that subject, but in answer to the direct question I will state that I do not think he will. He is in good health, but I believe that under no circumstances will Mr. Blaine consent to become a candidate before the Minneapolis Convention."

"Do you think that Harrison will be nominated on the first ballot?"

"I cannot express an opinion on the not express an opinion on that

A New Mexican Delegate's Views.

Mr. T. B. Catron, one of the six delegates from New Mexico to the Minneapolis Conven-tion, arrived in St. Louis this morning and will remain here until he leaves for Minneaption, arrived in St. Louis this morning and will remain here until he leaves for Minneapolis. He was seen by a Post-Disparch reporter to-day, and after discussing New Mexico's claims to Statehood, which are now before Congress for action, gave an interview on the probable outcome of the Republican National Convention, and the preferences of the Republican party in his section of the Country for a presidential candidate.

"We are in favor of Blaine first," said Mr. Catron emphatically, "and there is no doubt that Blaine would be elected with a rush if nominated, but I do not believe for a moment that he will allow his name to be used. He cannot do so, as the situation stands at present. The only danger to the party in the event of Mr. Blaine's nomination would be that he might suffer a physical relapse during the campaign, and that would incretably weaken the party's chances. It is true that some good Presidential timber, say like McKinley or Robert Lincolm, could be placed on the tail of the ticket, but the people of this country are afraid of Vice-Fresidents who become Presidents through the death of the man elected to that high office. "Only in the case of Mr. Arthur was that accident unaccompanied by danger and dangerous results, and there is no desire on the peacof the Hepublican party to go into a namonal election with such a contingency accepted as most likely to happen.

If Mr. Blaine would accept the nomination and then retire to some quiet and healthy mountain resort where he could take no part in the campaign, I believe that his name and personality at the head of the ticket would carry it through to overwhelming victory, but I doubt if he would do this.

"With Blaine not in the race, New Mexico is for Harrison affections of both parties, which ursed the selection of Territorial appointments from citizens of the Territory laterested, and in that way caused some criticism. But it is only fair to say that those appointments from citizens of the sarder appointments after wards proved more satisfactory to Candidate Dalton Visits the City.

Col. Dick Dalton reached the city yesterday clad in a new spring suit, but wearing the same old black slouch hat. He spent an hour in the Laclede Hotel and then west out to meet his friends of the "push" who are handling the St. Louis end of the campaign. Col. Dalton was met by a Post-Distarch reporter and asked concerning his campaign. "I am getting along nicely," he said, "and I am just as confident as ever that I will be the nominee of the convention. Since the St. Louis primary I have been hard at work in the county, and the results are very gratifying indeed. Do I think that I can defeat Maj. Warner if the nomination comes in my direction? Most certainty I do, or I would not be in the race. I stand ready to discuss state or national issues at any time. This is a Democratic State and the people are imbued with Democracy. These is no danger of its going Republican this year, none whatever." Candidate Dalton Visits the City.

Pitts, who now holds the office of Collector of Monroe County, is very jubilant over his prospects, and has no fear but that he will go into the convention with as many votes as either one of his competitors. "I have aiready 100 promised votes and Marion County yesterday instructed for Dalton, wood and myself. As the convention will represent 530 votes, 2M will be necessary to secure the nomination, and from the number of counties that have instructed it will be impossible for any candidate for State Treasurer to go into the convention with anything like the nomination is his vest pocket," Capt, Pitts will remain in the city until Thursday.

SUB-MARINE GUNNERY.

Further Tests of the Ericsson Projectile Made Yesterday.

New York, May 24.—Two more shots were fired under water yesterday at the Navy Yard in contination of the tests of Ericsson's improved sub-marine gup and torpedo At the first shot there was a muffed explosion, the surface of the water in a great circle around the bow of the Destroyer bubbled and seethed violently, but twenty feet be youd the vessel there were no signs on the surface to show the course of the projectile, until its red butt appeared at the upper end of the dry dock as it floated to the surface. The vessel recoiled violently but the ropes until its red butt appeared at the upper end of the dry dock as it floated to the surface. The vessel recoiled violently but the ropes prevented it from going back more than a few feet. On raising the nets it was found that the direction taken by the projectile had not been satisfactory.

The first net was pierced at a distance of five feet below the water level, showing that the projectile rose two feet in the first 100 feet of its course, for the gun is seven feet below the surface, it had also deflected from its proper horizontal course and gone three feet morth of the center. When the other nets were raised they showed no marks at all of the passage of the projectile and it was concluded that the shot had passed underneath the nets. The second shot was more successful in one respect, that is, it pierced each of the five nets. But it was not an accurate shot by any means and the projectile took an erratic course, being deflected many feet from the proper direction both horizontally and vertically. Officers were holding the ropes which held the three first nets, which are 100 feet apart from each other. They found that it required one half a second for the projectile to strike the first net, 100 feet from the gun. The second was struck in 142 seconds after the discharge, and the third net, 300 feet from the gun, was struck in 142 seconds. The projectile to pierce. It was concluded that it had either passed under the net or alongside of it. The projectile came to the surface as it had oen designed to do, but it soon began to fill with water and to sink. A seam had been started by the shot. The erratic course which the torped took was shown when the nets were raised. The first net was pierced 54 feet from the surface. The sheet from the surface. The third feet from the surface. The next 100 feet between this net at the surface. Then it went down again and the firth net was pierced if feet from the surface. Then it went down again and the firth net was spierced six inches from the torpedo went s feet and 6 inche

Revealed in a Letter Written Before Attempting Suicide.

NEW YORK, May 24 .- Miss Kate R. Pike, the Treasury Department typewriter of Wash-ington, D. C., who was found unconscious in her room at the Astor House Saturday last, with the gas turned on and two cuts in her left wrist, was taken from Bellevue Hospital the Tombs Police Court to-and arraigned on the charge day and arraigned on the charge of attempting suicide. She was released as having been demented when she made attempts on her life. The basis of this conclusion is a pittful letter to her mother, written before she cut her wrist and turned on the gas. The letter opens the girl's secret and discloses relations with one she refers to as "Jimmy," who one time had wanted her to marry him, but who, after her yielding to him, told her "such an idea is now absurd."

A STARTLING PROPOSITION. Churches Should Go Into the Salcon Business and Make It Respectable.

New York, May 24.—A novel method of correcting the saloon evil has been proposed by Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford of St. George's Church. His idea is that the church must compete with drinking saloons and reach the masses by establishing respectable places of this character. Dr. Hainsford first broached the idea in his sermon on Sunday morning and yesterday in an interview said:

"We cannot stamp out an evil such as the saloon, but we can do the next best thing; we can provide the beer demanded by the people and elevate the standing of the saloon to a higher plane. I don't think I would sell whisky in such a place, but instead have only beer, light wines, coffee and chocolate. I would make them attractive with reading rooms, and would keep them open on Sunday only during proper hours. When the time came for closing the blinds would come down to stay."

Dr. Hainsford further said he had not per-

It is estimated that 800 horses and mules and 2,000 head of cattle have been drowned and 2,000 head of cattle have been drowned and that 700,000 acres of cultivated farms are under water between Memphis and Cairo. According to Capt. Howard of the Anchor Line there are 225,000 acres of wheat destroyed, 800,000 acres of corn ruined and nearly 200,000 acres of cotton inundated. The waters continue to rise, and in two days more it is expected that 1,000,000 acres of cultivated ground will be flooded. The Arkansas bottoms are all under water and the number of lives lost and property destroyed cannot be estimated because no boats have gone into the flooded districts.

Pamilles Starving.

Pine Bluff, Ark., May 24.—News just received here is that hundreds of families on both sides of the river from Red Bluff to the mouth are in a starving condition. The people here have organized a strong relief committee and the rich and poor with few exceptions are contributing money and provisions to those in distress; the committee is almost continuously in session and our people are doing all in their power, but the distress and want are so great that these people alone are unable to do all or the hundredth part that is necessary to keep their unfortunate friends from starving. Pine Bluff contributed largely toward the Johnstown sufferers and now the committee ask the people of the United States to come to their relief. All moneys or other donations sent to Louis Altheimer, Chairman, will be most gratefully received and properly distributed.

crew of the steamer Anna B. Adams re-turned by rail to the city this morning, and tells the following story of the trip: The morning of the first day of the boat's arrival there it was dull and cloudy and cool enough for an October day. By 5 o'clock the relie struck out in skiffs in of the stranded victims.

search of the stranded victims. All the negroes and white people, men, women and children, and there were 250 of them, picked up during the night, were landed at hed Bluff. This high point, containing about twenty acres of land, is surrounded by water from ten to twenty feet deep, for a distance of thirty miles in every direction. As each person came ashore he was supplied with provisions enough to last two days. There was considerable dissatisfaction among some of the refugees, who expected a supply of rations to last them a week. Capt. Drake explained to the ravenous horde that he would need all the provisions that were left for distribution among those lower down the river. Between Redfield and the river, a distance of three miles, thousands of negroes are encamped. About 20 'clock Friday morning I made a tour of this district on foot. Camp fires were ablaze for miles and around them the darkies huddled to keep off the chill night air. Some were preaching and exhorting and others were singing and dancing and other-wise enjoying themselves as though an over-miles and around them the darkies and around them the darkies huddled to keep off the chill night air. Some were preaching and exhorting and others were singing and dancing and otherwise enjoying themselves as though an overflow was an every-day occurrence. The first point touched after leaving Red Bluff was the Nicholis Plantation, owned by Mir. W. F. George. His entire place is under water and all his stock belly-deep in water in his barn. The mules were driven out of the barn, made toswim about 200 yards, and were taken aboard the Adams. Mr. George is a heavy loser, his work for nine years being swept away by the flood. Fifteen white people, and as many negroes, were rescued here and carried to high land and put ashore. At he olive place twenty negroes were camped in the gin house. They had been there since Monday without a mouthful to eat. At least 100 persons were rescued from the branches of the cottonwoods, nearly all ha starving condition. They were fed, given a couple of days' rations and placed on shore beyond the reach of further danger. A negro's devotion to his dog is proverbial. One of the darkies at the Olive place gin-house neglected, his family in order to insure the safety of three hounds. Their continuous howling lent additional horror to the scene. There were nineteen head of mules on this planyation, and in the efforts of the boat's crew to save them they were nearly all drowned. In passing a cabin a little further down the stream a negro was seen perched on the climney of his hut, A skiff was sent to his rescue. A hole was cut in the roof and nine half-starved negroes were rescued. Around here the scene are appalling. Children sick and crying for food; mothers exhausted from hunger; fathers praying for death to come and relieve them and their own of their sufferings. Out in the open air, men, women and children, socking were leaven about a mile from this pless creatures were well-cared for by the steamer Admided they rushed aboard like a set of maniaes. WATER BOUND.

CASTORIA, Ark., May 24.—Fifteen hundred men, women and children are water bound and asking that a boat be sent to their rescue. The relief committee will forward a carload of provisions this morning by special train to the nearest point on the Valley Reilroad where a steamboat will be in waiting to receive the supplies and distribute them to the sufferers. At Red Bluff a temporary hospital has been established. Physicians and nurses from Pine Bluffs are taking care of the many unfortunates.

In New Hampshire.

MARCHESTER, N. H., May 24.—Some of the bridges here are threatened by the extraordinary height of the river, together with the arrival of the big log drives, which have been sent over the dam and are piled in jams in and about the piers of all the bridges south of Amoskeag Falls. An injunction will be served on the river men to prevent their sending through any more logs.

QUINCY, Ill., May 24.—The river is again or the rise at this point and great anxiety is felt, as the temporary levess erected have been weakened by the water and may give way.

CONFEDERATE DEAD.

Monument to Be Unveiled in Arkansa HELENA, Ark., May 24.—The reunion of day. There is a large number of men who wore the gray in the city.

The reunion is held under the auspices of the ex-Confederate Veterans' Association of Phillips County, Arkansas. The programme to day embraces the presentation of the monument and its acceptance by the veterans and sons of veterans of the South. To-morrow the monument will be unveiled and an oration will be delivered by John R. Fellows of New York.

The ground selected for the Confederate Cemetery at Helena and for the site of the monument is a plateau of wooded hillings 300 feet above the level of the Mississippi River. This plat of ground was donated by generous citizens of this place. The monument from base to apex is 37 feet high, with three sections of base, the lowest base being 9 feet square. The four sides are ornamented with a plinth with moided gable, the front gable having thirteen stars in bas relief, below which, in raised lettering, is "Confederate Memorial." Eight cannons on die occupy corners and centers between. Inscriptions are on east and west side and read:

CONFEDERATE DEAD.

This menument represents and embodies here-

For Southland's patriot brothers.

The four sides of the cap above the die are ornamented with pyramids of cannon balls, a spray of laurel beneath each pyramid and above the cap a block relieved with pediment, the center showing C.S.A. in monogram. On front of shaft is the battle flag, exquisitely carved in bas-relievo, and on opposite side stacked arms. At different heights on the monument are lettered the names of eight different important battles. At the highest point of the shaft appears an elaborate Corinthian cap, upon which stands the crowning piece of the monument. Upon the shaft stands the Confederate soldier in pure Italian marble. The officers of the association are: Mrs. J. M. Hanks, president; Mrs. S. Seelig, vice-president; Mrs. J. C. Barlow, treasurer; Mrs. William T. Haskell, secretary; Mrs. W. E. Moore, corresponding secretary.

Among the illustrious dead the shaft honors are Maj. Gen. Patrick R. Cleburne, the "Stonewall of the West;" Maj. Gen. Thos. C. Hindman and Col. W. E. Moore, chief commissary of the Army of Tennessee.

New ORLEANS, May 24 .- The car drivers strike has assumed serious proportions day and rioting has been going on all over the city since early this morning. The Mayor has sworn in over 130 special officers. Over fifty of the strikers were arrested up to 1 o'clock this afternoon for throwing cars from the tracks. The strike has affected every labor organization in the city and a general tie up is expected to-night. Mayor Fitzpatrick issued a proclamation last night, calling all law-abiding citizens to assemble at the car station this morning and assist in preserving order. The President of the Car Drivers' Union, Mr. John Hall, in speaking of the facts which led up to the strike to-day said that as soon as the demands of the drivers when the last strike was ended and were agreed to the drivers who had been with the union in that fight, were quietly dropped, one by one, without just cause. It is this state of affairs which has caused the lines to rebel. They want their organization recognized, in common with trades unions. city since early this morning. The detectives raided his place about 10 o'clock last night and captured the proprietor and sixteen alleged players. The police say that Geimers runs one of the largest "crap" games in the city and claim that in the game raided last night nearly $2.000 was ready to be staked. The detectives say that they have had numerous complaints from wives, mothers and others dependent for support on the young men of the vicinity, who, they say, are being lured nightly into the gambling house.

CLARESVILLE, Tenn., May 24.-Last evening escorted by the local military company. The Sheriff and his prisoner left on the 9:45 south-bound train, and it is believed that the Sheriff bound train, and it is believed that the Sheriff turned Weems over to another officer at Paris, Tenn., to take him to Memphis. This supposition is based on the fact that Sheriff Staten returned here this morning, so he could not have gone further than Paris last evening. Staten, however, will not say a word as to what disposition was made of Weems, but it is almost certain he is in Memphis. The now notorious Weems has not the brutal countenance of most of this class of criminals. He is a medium-sized, dark mulatto and wears burnsides.

Weems was brought here by Detective McGuire and lodged in jail under the name of Will Brooks, an all-round crook. Detective McGuire slipped his prisoner out of Nashville Saturday morning and brought him here to escape the vengeance of the mob that went there to hang him.

First, that the unspeakable crime for which they were lynched outlaws the perpetrator, whether white or black, in every part of the United States. Frequently lynchings have occured from time to time in the North, but they appear to be forgotton entirely. The white man in the South who is guilty of the same crime meets awful doom as swiftly as does the black man. ODD THINGS IN REAL LIFE.

The Remarkably Vivid Imagination of Prom the Boston Transcript.

A day or two before Christmas a lady was coming out of Park Square, across Boylston street to the common. The crossings were muddy and very slippery. She had been dodging wagons and picking her way across the muddy street. When she was coming down the Boylston street incline, a double team attached to a heavy express wagon with a projecting pole in front hove in sight. She slipped on the wet crossing, and the little accident so delayed her movement that the team was upon her almost before she knew it. The speed of the horses was so great that the driver could not have checked them nor diverted them in time to save her. She made a desperate struggle to get away and slipped again, and at this instant the pole of the rushing wagon grazed so closely to her cheek that she felt its rushing movement. The lady distinctly heard and felt the crunching of her own bones under the wheels of the wagon; she was completely under the wheels of the vehicle, where she was being fatally run over. At the same instant this thought flashed through her mind: "There is no means of identifying me except a railrond commutation ticket in my bag, which has my husband's address written on the cover. How dreadful for him to hear of this in this way!" Then there came to her senses a sort of panoramic picture of her husband and children at home with no way to find the Christmas presents were located—in the attic, some in closets, some in bureaus, etc.

By this time the lady had reached the curbstone and had not been run over at all! The whole affair had taken place within three feet of the curb, and had, of course, occupied the merest instant of time. The impression of the breaking bones, the wheels going over her and all the rest had been pure imagination, and had come the very instant when the pole of the wagon brushed so closely to her face. Nevertheless she carried away an ache in every bone, and ould not for some time disabuse her mind of the sensation of having been casually run over.

The climate is very pleasant. It seems to be the right location and proper altitude to know not in winter the heavy smows and cold feli in the mountain towns and not far south enough to experience great heat in summer. Bilizzards, cyclones and mud are unknown. Here, as in other parts of New Mexico, are found fat, hearty, healthy persons, yet with a tendency to lung trouble, who would commit suicide by living elsewhere.

The people are mostly from Texas, and a more generous, kindly community it would be hard to find. In a few cases noted, their simple hearted sincerity was touching. A kind locking stranger loitering down the street was accosted by a long legred individual holding an open letter; "Say, mister, can you read writin?" "Yes," responded the stranger, and getting behind a friendily tree he read the letter to him of the long legs, who expressed his thanks and went on his way without a thought of ridicule. An honest looking woman told me a pet horse of hers had been cured of a rattlesnake bite by having the Bible read to him. I had not expected to find such faith, at least couside of Israel.

If you have an alfalfa farm you have a gold mine and a bank, only the mine is inexhaustible and the bank never suspends. It is perennial. You don't have to cultivate it. You do have to cut it three or four times a year, but it is not much more trouble than cutting off coupons. This clover is green and growing the whole year through. It forms a winter pasturage for stock, which in this mild climate of the land of the alfalfa never know or need a barn where a muffled-up being throws them corn with his benumbed fingers. The farmer here has a market for all produce at the ranches and the mining and lumbering camps in the mountains.

The secret of the wealth and the wonder of this valley is in its water supply. It is here in every form and in inexhaustible quantity. In never-failing springs, wide lakes, everflowing streams and trivers, wells at the depth of eight feet, artesian water at 100 feet, and at near points water the New York Tribune. A distressing and ominous report comes from Kentucky. This is nothing less than that the revolver has entered into base ball there. The revolver in politics has been long and favorably known in Kentucky, but the revolver in base ball is a new thing. Heretofore, in Kentucky, as elsewhere, the bats, together with a few clubs torn from the dismantled grandstand, have been sufficient to settle any little disputes over the umpire's decisions, but with the introduction of the six-shooting revolver of large Kentucky callbor an entirely different aspect is put upon the game.

BULLETS AND BASE BALL.

A Novelty Introduced in the Nation

decisions, but with the introduction of the six-shooting revolver of large Kentucky caliber an entirely different aspect is put upon the game.

The first use of the revolver as an implement for heightening the interest of our national game is reported from Calhoun, Ky., on the Green River. A few days ago a game was played between the Calhoun Game Cocks and a picked nine of Green River raftsmen. To promote harmony and foster mutual respect it was agreed that each man should wear his revolver while playing. This had no effect on the game except somewhat to retard the baserunners and outfielders, since the Kentucky plated weighs from three to five pounds, and in a measure it accounts for the high score of sixty-four to fifty-sight at the end of the seventh inning. It also demanded and brought out several new rullings, such, for example, as that the base-runner when he drops his pistol has a right to go back for it. In the third inning with the Game Cocks at bat, one of them struck struck a high fly to beff field which was in imminent danger of being caught by a Raftsman fielder, when capt. Crouse of the Games took a shot at the ball and knocked it away from the fielder. The umpire ruled against this, and declared the batsman out. In the next inning one of the Raftsman, being unable to hit the curves of the Game Cocks' battery, drew his revolver and began shooting recklessly at the ball as it went past. This practice was also ruled out. Serious trouble was also ruled out, serious trouble was also ruled out, and stopped half way, drew his revolver and began shooting recklessly at the ball as it went past. This practice was also ruled out, and stopped half way, drew his revolved and allowed the ball to strike him heavily in the stomach. Hudson took the base amid great excitement. The Game Cocks claimed a foul. The umpire showed some little hesitancy, it being a novel case, when the short-stop drew his pistol and winged him from his place in the field. The uncertain umpire was carried from the ground by spectators. Ge

DETECTIVES OF THE PLAINS.

Perils Encountered by the Eange Inspectors of Western States.

From the Helena Independent.

Column after column has been written about the daring deeds, miraculous escapes and cunning capture of criminals by the detectives of Europe and America. In thousands of cases the praise accorded these officers for their ingenuity and daring has been deserved; but there is a class of detectives in this country who risk their lives officer, and who must know not only the ways of the highwayman when he is in the city, but also his haunts and his hiding places and his go-between in the thinly settled country as well.

These men are on the go almost all the time—to-day down in New Mexico looking for a horse thief, who is a murderer as well; next week far across the Canadian line on the trail of a gang of cattle thieves who have been despoiling the Montana or Wyoming ranges. It is only in the past ten or fifteen years that their worth has been appreciated or their services valued as they should be.

In the early days of cattle raising in Wyoming and Colorado, whenever the range thieves became too bold, the ranchmen for miles around would organize, get on the track of the thieves, run them to their holes and then shoot or hang them. After a visitation of this kind herds would be comparatively safe for a time. Nevertheless, thousands of head of cattle and horses were stolen each year and shipped to Chicago, for which the rightful owners received not a cent. The stockmen of Wyoming organized a stockgrowers' association and appointed for each county in the State a stock inspector.

Colorado followed suit in a few years, to be followed later by Montana. The duties of these inspectors were not to look out for diseased cattle, but to inspect every car load of

ANOTHER LAUNDRY WAR.

American Workers Organize to Fight the Chinese.

Another meeting of the St. Louis laundry employes was held last night at Aschen-broedal Hall,604 Market street for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization. Out of the seventy-five members that signified their willingness to join the association, only thirty responded to roll call last night. their willingness to join the association, only thirty responded to roll call last night. The object of the meeting is to perfect a permanent organization, and regulate the price in laundry work in St. Louis. "It is all bosh about us inaugurating the eight-hour system as published in a morning paper," said the manager of the wagons of the City Laundry to a Post-Dispatch reporter this morning. It would be impossible for us to do that, as at times we are not called to work until after dinner, and at other times we are on duty until late at night; it de pends largely on the work that comes in. We have no grievance on that score. What we are not particularly impressed with is this: There is a lot of help, both black and white, employed in all the laundries that are not competent, and they draw the same salary as others who have had more experience, and we want them replaced by competent laundry girls. You will see that our employer will be benefited as well as ourselves. Another thing we wish to accomplish is to form among the members of the Association a benevolent society. When an employe is taken sick he or she will draw an indemnity, say, of $10 per week. One reason our meeting was not so largely attended last night, the laundry girls did not care to visit the place where our meeting was held, but on the first Tuesday in June we will elect officers, adopt a constitution and by-laws, and by holding the meeting further up in town, the attendance will be large and one can then tell what we will be able to accomplish."

"How about the war you propose to inaugurate against the Chinese?"

"How about the war you propose to inaugurate against the Chinese?"
"Well, we expect to give them a good fight. A Chinaman will work day and night, and for this reason we have no use for any of them, and before our war is over we expect to close our more than one Chinese establishment. Of course, as yet, we have not decided upon the pians, and I can not state how the fight will be made; that will be determined at our June meeting."

When the almond-eyed, saddle-complexioned individuals were informed of the situation this morning they treated the matter in their usual indifferent manner, and did not seem to care whether a war was inaugurated against them or not.

The Wagon Held the Track.

An interesting little scene was enacted this morning about 7:45 o'clock in front of the Cook Well Co.'s establishment on Market west of Seventh street. A wagon was unloading a small engine in front of the store, and motor No. 47 and trailer and motor No. and motor No. 47 and trailer and motor No. 18 and trailer of the Forest Park and Laclede avenue line, and motor No. 18 and trailer of the Market street and Tower Grove line were compelled to come to a standstill. Finally after a long wait the conductor of the Tower Grove train asked the polleeman to make the teamster turn his wagon so that the trucks would be off the track and the cars could pass. The polleeman answered him sharply, and some finished swearing was indulged in, but the wagon still held the blockade, and the police triumphantly walked over to the teamsters and chatted with them as they leisurely unloaded.

The Alleged Bigamist.

Detective Scully returned from Graniteville last evening, with D. G. Condon, the man against whom a warrant for lascivious cohabitation was issued last Saturday at the request of his wife, who had come from Chica quest of his wife, who had come from Chicago in search of him. Mr. Scully says that he found Condon occupying a room at a private boarding-house at Graniteville with the woman he had run off with from Ohicago, and that she claimed that they were married. Condon is a stone-cutter and was employed at the quarries of Graniteville until the strike last week. He had an intervew with his wife at the Four Courts this morning and talked to her for half an hour, trying to persuade her not to appear against him, but she refused to be persuaded. When Chief Harrigan asked him if the lady was his wife, he said that he would not say whether she was or not. "Take him down stairs," said the Chief to his wife, who was sitting down, and kissed her and then left with the detective and, as he was leaving the room, Maj. Harrigan said to him, "You seem very anxious to kiss a woman you won't acknowledge as your wife."

wife." Mrs. Condon said that she was married to this man at Seattle, Wash., three years ago by a Catholic priest. They moved to Chicago soon after their marriage, and it was there that she learned that he had been in trouble and in jail two or three times before she met him, once for killing a man. When he ran off a couple of months ago she traced him to this city and learned that he was rooming at the St. Louis Hotel, on Fourth and Locust streets, with a woman claiming to be his wife. They suddenly disappeared from the hotel and nothing more was heard from them until the hotel proprietor received a letter from Graniteville asking him

Tax Values Rapidly Increasing. "This office wanted to see the reduction made," said Chief Clerk Lon Jones of the Assessor's office to-day. "See how the as-sessments have jumped up in the past few years. In 1890 this had gone up to $248,884,000. In '91 the assessment was $252,081,000 and this year it is $280,522,000. Over $25,000,000 will be added to this in the next two years. There are a dozen buildings going up in the city valued at from $100,000 to $1,000,000, and all these new railroad schemes bring in foreign capital to be put into real estate and raise its values."

Made So Because They Do Not Wear the Right Kind of Collars. From the Memphis Commercial.

Right Kind of Collars.

From the Memphis Commercial.

A large proportion of the civilized women in the world are round-backed and humpshouldered. The reason is that they wear no collars or if they wear a collar at all it is of some soft material that does not keep the chin up. It is utterly impossible for the shoulders to droop when the head is carried well up, and nothing will make a man keep his head up like a stiff, high collar with sharp points that stick and hurt when the clin is allowed to droop down on them. Half a dozen years axo, when the fashion in collars was very high behind and low or turned back in front, many, many men in the country were round-shouldered. The stiff piece of linen behind forced the head forward and down and a droop in the shoulders was the result. There is no particular fashion in collars now, nor has there been for years, but the prevailing taste runs to a collar that stands straight up all around, the points lapping under the chin. This collar is higher in front than behind, and the men who wear them soon learn to throw their heads back to prevent the high points in front from chafing their chins. The result of this is that the men of to-day are straight-backed, squareshouldered, fine looking fellows.

Financial Measures Introduced in the Hungarian Diet.

THE COINAGE OF THE EMPIRE TO BE

BUDA PESTS, May 24.—The currency reform bills introduced in the Hungarian diet agree in their main points with those laid before the Austrian Parliament. One of the meas-ures directs the notification of the with-drawal or the redemption of the 5 per cent paper rentes to the total value of 288,000,000 florins, as well as of the bonds and shares of the State religious materials for all y leave. the State railways maturing after July 1 next. The notification of withdrawal is to be pub-The notification of withdrawal is to be published at least three months in advance. The Minister of Finance is authorized in exchange for the rentes to be redeemed to issue stock at a lower rate of interest, payable in kronen, and to replace the railway securities by a corresponding issue of 4 per cent gold rentes, secured by the railways in question and redeemable within seventy-five years.

The preamble of the bill says that the Minister of Finance has preserved from the available.

The preamble of the bill says that the Minister of Finance has procured from the available funds in the treasury 45,000,000 gold florins and that according to the treaty clause determining Hungary's quota, a further sum of 85,600,000 gold florins will, therefore, be required for the redemption of the Hungarian State notes. These amounts will suffice if the budgets of Austria and Hungary for the next few years show a surplus. Should the export trade of the monarchy take an unfavorable turn it would become necessary to make further gold purchases.

archy take an unfavorable tarn it would become necessary to make further gold purchases.

The standard of coinage is to be such that 2,952 kronen will go to a kilogramme of gold having a fineness of 900-1,000, that is to say 8,500 kronen will be coined out of a kilogramme of pure gold. The gold coins will be 20 and 10 kronin pleces and will be struck both on state and private account. Ducats will continue to be minted as coins for trading purposes. In addition to these gold coins, the present Austrian silver coins will remain in circulation, the Austrian silver florin being equivalent to 2 kronen. The fractional currency will consist of one kronen and 30 helier pleces in silver, 20 and 10 helier pieces in nickel and 2 and 1 helier pieces in bronze. The silver coinage will have a fine ness of 885-1,000 and 200 one krone pieces will go to a kilogramme of silver.

Austria's share in the new coinage is fixed as follows: Silver coin, 140,000,000 kronen; nickel coinage, 47,000,000 kronen, and bronze coin, 18,200,000 kronen. The existing Austrian paper tokens will remain in circulation for the present, 1 florin being equal to 2 kronen. The clause in the coinage treaty between Austria and Hungary determining the quota of coins to be contributed by each State provides for the coinage in the two halves of the monarchy together of 200,000,000 kronen silver pieces, 800,000,000 mickel pieces and 26,000,000 bronze pieces. Arrangemeuts will be made at the proper moment for the regulation of the paper circulation and the resumption of specie payments. The Austro-Hungarian coinage treaty is to remain in operation until the end of 1910, and as soon as it comes into force the two Governments will resume negotiations with a view to making the adoption of the crown unit compulsory in the monetary numeration of the paper currency and for the enactment of laws for the resumption of specie payments.

The third bill provides that pecuniary obligations may be discnarged in gold florins

The third bill provides that pecuniary obligations may be discharged in gold forins as well as in the new gold coins of the country, forty-two Austrian gold florins being equal to 100 kronen. The fifth bill authorizes the Minister of Finance to raise a loan for procuring the bullion required for the new coinage. The new loan is to be issued in the form of a 4 per cent Austrian gold rente, free of taxes, and Austrian florins to the amount of 183, 456,000 are to be redeemed in the new coinage in gold.

A GOLDEN WEDDING.

VALUABLE PRESENTS RECEIVED BY THE KING

AND QUEEN OF DENMARK. COPENHAGEN, May 24.—The celebration of the golden wedding of the King and Queen of the golden wedding of the King and Queen of Denmark began to-day, when the members of the royal family attended Holy Communion at the palace at Amelienborg. The Empress of Russia, who arrived yesterday with the Czar has procured a unique and splendid present for her father and mother. The present consists of a team of six horses, perfectly white and of the rarest breeds. In order to get the six together, the imperial studs all ever Russia had to be searched, and the gift is said to be one of the most beautiful and mostly costly ever offered to a European monarch. Beside this gift of the Czarina, the ruling families of Russia, England and Greece will make a magnificent joint present to the King and Queen of Denmark. It is a group of sculpture by the Danish artist, Husseirus, and will later on be placed in one of the public squares of Copenhagen. On a granite pedestal is a bronze figure representing Denmark, surrounded by bronzellons bearing the shields of the imperial house of England and the moval heaven

A ROTAL DECREE APPROVES THE PROPOSED

BELGIUM'S CONSTITUTION.

BRUSSELS, May 24.—A decree was published to-day containing a declaration that the king approves of the resolution recently adopted by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies providing for a revision of the con-adopted by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies providing for a revision of the constitution. After the Senate and Chamber have voted that certain articles of the constitution are to be revised, those bodies become ipso facto subject to dissolution, and their successors, elected within a period of two months, will acquire the powers of a constituent assembly.

In accordance with this provision the decree of to-day dissolves parliament and fixes June 14 as the date for holding the elections. There are several articles of the constitution that it is proposed to revise. The most important of these is article 47, which opens up the question of universal suffrage and article 26, under which there is a project for introducing the referendium system. This latter question is held to be more important to Belgium than the extension of the franchise. When the agitation for constitutional revision had reached its height King Leopold impressed upon his ministers the necessity for meeting the demand and at the same time incorporating in the constitution the best of safeguards against hasty decisions, confused issues and dangerous legislation. This, His Majesty held, would be attained by adopting the referendium principle. The form of referenium proposed in Belgium is to be applied on the initiative of the King, not only to bills passed by Parliament, but also to bills proposed. It is contended that by following this course it will be possible to avert legislation which might result in straining the relations with foreign countries.

CONTINUED INSURGENT VICTORIES IN VENE PUERTO CABELLO, Venezuela, May 24.—Gen. Leon Collins, at the head of a body of insurgents from Falconia, has captured the city of Coro. He then marched toward Lavela, which is on important port. Gen. Leon Quintan, who raised the Standard of Crespo at Maitana about the middle of May, has defented the government general, Fernando Pacheco. The rebel chieftan Araujo has not been killed, as stated by the government agents at Caracas. Dr. Casanas is reported dangerously ill with heart disease.

A CONCILIATORY LETTER.

BERLIN, May 24.—Gen. Von Richter, Chief of the Military Household of the Czar of Russia, has arrived in Berlin with an autograph letter addressed to the Kaiser. The letter is said to be conciliatory and even fraternal in language and is evidently intended to atone for the failure of the Czar to visit the Kaiser on his way to Copenhagen, as the Czar had originally intended.

A CHANCE FOR DEACON.

NICE, May 24.—The friends here of Mr. Edward Parker Deacon have been advised that it is probable President Carnot will pardon Mr. Deacon on Jluy 14, the anniversary of the fall of the Bastile, when it is customary for the Executive to extend clemency to certain prisoners. The decision not to appeal to the Cour d'Cassatan is based upon the expectation of an early commutation of the sentence.

If Precautions Are Not Taken Sicknes Will Follow the Flood.

INCREASE IN THE DEATH RATE AFTER

Inability to Do Anything for Lack of Money-What the Local Board Will Do -The Necessity for Action Clearly

Dr. Atkinson, the Secretary, will take no steps toward preventing evil consequences in the shape of malarial and other fevers, which invariably follow the floods. The board, he states, has no funds and will, therefore, be helpless in the matter. Before making this announcement, it appears that Secretary Atkinson consulted with the local members and heard from the others through the mails. The State Board estimates that it will take a large sum of money to disinfect the places that need it throughout the flooded districts, and that the board having a depleted treasury can consequently do nothing. MUCH ILLNESS WILL ENSUE.

Interviews with prominent physicians, published in Sundar's Post-Disparch, show that Interviews with prominent physicians, published in Sunday's Post-Disparch, show that the increase of maiarial and other fevers attending the floods generally borders on the alarming stage. They are right, too, that unless heroic remedies are resorted to in this city much illness will ensue.

The Health Department records do not run back to the floods of 1844 and 1858, but they are in good condition for the year of 1882, when the river reached a stage nearly as high as it has been during the past two weeks. The figures show a large increase in the number of deaths from symatic causes for the quarter succeeding the flood period. In that year the flood lasted the greater part of June. The first quarter of the year or the months of January, February and March shows that there were 2,049 deaths in all and that 576 of these were of the symatic class. In the second quarter, April, March June 1 June 2 June symmits class. In the second quarter, April, May and June there were $57 deaths under the head of symmits causes.

Next comes the quarter following the flood or the months of July, August and September. During that period there were 2,845 deaths of which $68 were of the zwantic class and a During that period there were 2,000 dealing of which 953 were of the symatic class, and a very large proportion of these resulted from maiarial fever, typhold fever and diphtheria. In the last quarter there were 1,924 deaths, and of these 627 were of the symatic order. The large increase in the third quarter was attributed to the alluvial and other disease-producing deposits left by the receding waters.

INCREASED THE DEATH RATE.

Mortality Clerk Jacks of Health Department said this morning that he distinctly remembered the floods of 1844 and 1868, and recollected that the death rate made a big spurt as soon as the water subsided. "The increased death rate," he said, "was due to mainrial and other fevers."

Health Commissioner Ersenan said this morning that his department was ready to take hold of matters as soon as the water left the Levee. "The board," he said," will ask the co-operation of the Harbor, Fire and Sewer Departments and we have no doubt that we will get all the help we need. The Harbor Department, with the Fire Department, can clean up the Levee by washing away the deposits. Then the Fire Department will have to pump out the cellars, and the Sewer Department will have to start in without delay and repair the sewers which have been damaged by the floods. The Health Department, through its sanitary corps, will have plenty of copperas and lime to disinfect the cellars and cess pools. By all working together I am sure we can prevent any excessive mortality. Of course there will be an increase of mainria in the flooded sections, but we hope to keep it down to a minimum, so far as St. Louis is concerned."

understanding of the meaning of the fight on the rate bill that has just ended. He knows that Comptroller John D. Stevenson has carried his point in spite of the opposition of the Council and he hears that this reduces the tax rate 10 cents on each $100 of property valuation, but the effect of the change on the Last year the owner of property in St. Louis had to pay on each $100 of his assessment $2.20, divided as follows: School, 40 cents.

AVENUE.

State, 30 cents.

This year she rate is 15 cents lower. Ten cents is taken from the interest tax of 50 cents and 5 cents from the State tax, the total tax on each $100 being $2.05.

The reduction of the interest tax was opposed by Chairman Nelson Cole of the Council Committee on Ways and Means and his conservative colleagues in that body, on the ground that it would decrease the City's revenue by about $244,000 this year and would make the interest fund fall short by $30,000 of paying the bond interest, making it necessary to consume the surplus of $188,000 laid aside last year for the purpose of funding the debt. More than this, Councilman Cole and his associates in the Council thought that the debt of the city, now beyond the legal limit should be paid off and brought down to that line before a tax reduction was undertaken on account of its popularity. The charter forbids the city from incurring a debt greater than 5 per cent of the assessed value of its tax paying property. That in $1. Louis now would permit a debt of only $14.00.000, while in fact the debt is shout $21,000.000, wh was separated, and the financial officers of the city cannot be fairly held responsible for it.

THE FUTURE CARING FOR THE DERTS.

"My idea is that it would be a much better advertisement for the city to reduce this debt than to reduce the tax," said Councilman Cole, discussing the Comptroller's proposition before it was adopted. "It would certainty make us stronger financially abroad."

The members of the House, guided by the Comptroller, and held to their determination by Speaker Tom Ward and Delegates Henry Stegmund and Henry Alt, insisted that the city's future could take care of itself. "If we reduced the debt now," said ex-Speaker Alt, while the committee was conferring, "the city will grow so fast in a few years it will be allowable to incur a debt of several hundred thousand dollars or two or three million even more, and of course that will be at once piled up by issuing new bonds. We think that the present might as well have the advantage of the city's growth as the future; we will reduce the tax and let the debt stay where it is. If will be only a short time before the debt will be within the constitutional limits."

THOUGHT THE COUNCILMEN FIQUED.

The delegates were made more obstinate by the bellef that the opposition to the Comptroller in the Council was not really based on patriotic grounds, but was caused by the pique of the Committee on Ways and Means, who were reluctant to see the Comptroller get the whole credit of this movement toward low taxes. It is customary for the Comptroller each year to lay a revenue bill in blank before the Council Committee on Ways and Means, and then advise with them as to the figures to be put in. This time Comptroller stevenson showed such unexpected shrewdness in managing his plans os as toget all the honor himself that he was openly accused in the Assembly of scheming for a re-election, and felt it necessary to make a denial of that impeachment. He worked out his idea carefully with Deputy Comptroller Fred Gaebel, the most far-seeing city financier in St. Louis,

The "Dead Arm" Pitchers Awaiting a Torrid Spell.

WHAT THE LEAGUE HUSTLERS HAVE DONE SO FAR.

The Veterans in the Box Will Be Be St. Louis Wins Another Game From Cleveland - Young fair Buys Some Costly Recers-Sporting News.

throughout the cities composing the Twelve-club League, the old twirlers, who are nowa-days also well referred to as hot weather pitchers, will be expected to come to the front and the youngsters who so far, with one or two exceptions, have been doing the star work of the season, will be expected to take a back seat. Some of these, notably Breitenstein of St. Louis, Stein and Kennedy of Brooklyn, and Dolan of Washington, who held Comisky's Cincinnati Reds down to one hit, have already commenced to let up in their work. Dolan dropped off so suddenly that Washing. ton released him, and now that Brooklyn has come to terms with George Haddock, either Stein or Kennedy will in all probability have to go. The former pitched several good ames for Ward's aggregation during the opening days of the season, but as soon as struck this point he commenced to ception of Galvin, the oldest pitcher on the diamond, is the only star pitcher in the country with the exception of Boston's trio who has been holding his own regularly since the season opened. Young of Cleveland has pitched first-class ball, but he has not done it so frequently as Mullane. The same can be said of Baldwin of Pittsburg. Old Man Galvin, Baldwin's compatriot, has, as a follower of winter face horses would say, been doing the most inconsistent work of them all. Away he goes in and is batted for ten or fifteen hits, and the next day he pitches in superb form, allowing the opposing team but two or three hits. Unfortunately for Chicago be had one of these spells Saturday, and as result Anson's Colts were able to make but two hits off of him. Elton Chamberlain, who is assisting Mullane at Cincinnati, has been doing better work than any one, with the possible exception of Comiskey, expected of him. Whether he will continue to do so remains to be seen. Comiskey, however, seems to have no doubt on the subject, or he would never suspended indefinitely for getting drunk such a pitcher as Rhines, whose equals are few and far between. As was universally expected the Boston club has shown upstronger in the box than any other team in the League. Stivetts, Nichols and Staley are all pitching in good style. Clarkson, the highest-priced pitcher in the country, has not, however, been doing what was expected of him, and the result is the Boston management has been using him as a bench warmer, and are to release him. Charley Bufferton and McMahon, Bailtimore's cracks, seem to have struck their galt at last. Should they continue and do the work they did last season the Orioles will make the best of them hustle to defeat them. Herry Wright claims that the poor showing his Phillies have made up to date is due to the inability of his pitchers to hold their own. Weything is the only one in the lot who has been doing even fair work. Keefe, Esper and Carsey, Harry expects, will round up with the hot weather. Keefe is notoriously a warm-weather pitcher. This is fithe s diamond, is the only star pitcher in the country with the exception of Boston's trio who has been holding his own regularly

The Browns continued their good work at Cleveland yesterday and defeated Pat Te-beau's Spiders by clean, hard hitting. Davis, hammered so hard that he was taken out of the box at the end of the fifth inning. Cuppy, who succeeded him, was very effective. Gleason pitched a fairly strong game for the Browns, although at times he was batted hard. The excellent work of the Browns in the field, however, prevented the hor team from scoring more than five times. Brodle and Buckley carried off the honors, both in the field and at the bat, as far as the Browns were concerned. The home team, strange to say, failed to put up their usually strong game in the field. The summary fol-

The result of the Brooklyn handicap has itan, which will be run on Decoration Day, Saturday, June 18, says Arthur F. Bowers. Judge Morrow was handicapped at 122 pounds in the Metropolitan, but Green B. pounds in the Metropolitan, but Green B.
Morris withdrew him. Longstreet is not in the Metropolitan, and Raceland was declared out. Judging by the Brooklyn handicap, both Pessara and Russell are likely to run extremely well at Morris Park, but they will have La Tosca. Poet scout and other good horses that they did not meet on Monday to encounter. His Highness is now a strong favorite for the Suburban, and has been heavily backed. The chances of Pessara and Russell in that race, however, do not look at all unpromising. They will carry 116 pounds each, while Judge Morrow is handicapped at 120 pounds. There does not seem to be much probability at present of Judge Morrow's winning the Suburban.

AT THE FAIR GROUNDS, The local owners of bangtails made a splendid showing at the Fair Grounds yester. day. Three of the six races were won by St. Louis horses. C. C. Maffitt won the opening race with his 4-year-old chestnut filley, Lucelle Manette, who is by the Imp. Athlete out of the imp. Lady Lyon.

R. J. Lucas captured the second event, which was for 2-year-olds, with his chestnut gelding, Jack Kearney, who is by Mr. Lucas' stallion, imp. Keene out of Petite. It was the coit's first appearance, and he defeated the Guttenburg crack, Whitehead, ridden by George Taylor, and three others with apparent ease. The Charter Oak stable, which is the property of the Messrs. Cohn, the local horse traders, captured the fifth event with their 3-year-old chestnut filley, Minnie Oee, who was sired by Plenig and is out of Jaconet. The defeat of Whitehead and Guido, who was defeated by Philora were the surprises of the day, both Guido and Whitehead being odds on favorites. It was a bad day for the talent.

Lucilie Manette, a 6 to 1 shot, was successful in the opening scramble; Jack Kearney, a 15 to 1 shot, walked off with the second race; Philora, who closed a third choice at 7 to 1, defeated Guido, the favorite, by a head in the third event, and Irene H., the favorite at 2½ to 1, after winning the fourth race, was disqualified and Annie Race, a 12 to 1 shot, who finished second, was given the purse. It seems that the race was for non-winners since April 10. As Irene H. won at the course across the river April 18, she was ineligible. The decision, however, did not affect the bets made on the race. Minnie Cee, who closed at 6 to 1, won the fifth hands down, and the closing race was won by Bonnie Byrd, a heavily played favorite, who closed at even money. The summaries follow:

First race, six furlongs—Lucelle Manette won. Zendee, accond; Jim White, third. Time, 1:17.

Second race, four and one-half furlongs—Sak Kearney won; Whitehead, second; Mr. Barnes, third. Time, 1:89.

Third race, six and one-half furlongs—Philora won; Guido, second; Marsellas, third. Time, 1:234.

Fith race, six furlongs—Minnie Cee won; Italie, second; Mille Pearl, shird. Time, 1:249.

B. Conklin of Greenport, L. I., and was by Conklin's Abdallah, a horse of unknown breeding, and out of Nancy Awful, by Telegraph. Rarus trotted his first race in 1874 at Hornelisville, N. T., and was a constant performer for seven years. At Buffalo in 1878 he fowered the trotting record to 2:184 and remained king of the turt until October, 1879, when St. Julien further reduced the mark to 2:124. Rarus was purchased by Mr. Bonner in 1879 for $86,000 and has not since appeared on the turf. Mr. Bonner used him on the road. When Rarus was 20 years old the late John Murphy Claimed to have given him a trial mile in 2:1142, but this is not a record.

The Faculty Will Strike. APPLETON, Wis., May 24. - The entire facult of Lawrence University was on the point of resigning last night as the result of a disresigning last night as the result of a disagreement with the Executive Committee of the University Trustees. Last week Fay F. Jones, a student of the University, was dismissed by the faculty. The father protested to the faculty in vain, and then carried the matter before the Executive Committee, which yesterday reversed the faculty's decision. The faculty held a meeting and resolved to resign if the committee would not withdraw its decision. The President's absence at Omaha, attending the conference, makes the state of affairs very critical. To-day the committee will hold another meeting.

JACKSON, Miss., May 24 .- Ever since the adoption and putting into force of the Mississippi constitution of 1890 its validity has been questioned for the reason that it was not submitted to the public for ratification, which, it was claimed, was necessary under the old constitution. The Supreme Court yesterday settled the point, holding that the constitutional convention was the embodiment of the sovereignity of the people, and that it was competent for it to put into effect the new constitution without submission to he voted on. This view was taken by the Judiciary Committee of the convention-during its session and the report made by Judge Wily H. Harris, chairman, to the convention has been sought after by lawyers and courts from all parts of the Union.

SORE THROATS. Sore throat is the cause of more than half the trouble that comes from contagious diseases. The germs of these maladies such as scarlet fever, diphtheria, mumps, measles, smalloox and the like float in the air. They can be taken into the human system without danger, if they do not find an abraded surface. If they do, they enter the blood and swarm in millions. It is well known that diphtheria can be taken from a wound on the skin on the body. It is particularly noticeable that when such a malady as diphtheria rages it always attacks people after they have caught a slight cold. When you take cold, therefore, and your throat is sore get a bottle of REID'S GERMAN COUGH & KIDNEY CURE at once and take it freely. If your druggist will not order it for you write to us.
